CSBE Research Study on IndSearch entry into the area of Social Enterprises

Social enterprises have the power to transform our communities and enrich the lives of masses. Given their contribution in employment generation and inclusive growth, helping SEs grow is a national priority. IndSearch is planning to enter the area of Social Enterprise with a view to help them in their growth specially in Pune and contribute towards the inclusive growth of Pune region.

IndSearch was established in 1973 by a group of academicians and management professionals as an Institution devoted to teaching, training, consultancy and research in Management. The Institute has been recognized as an educational and research organization by the Government of Maharashtra and as an Advanced Centre for Doctoral Studies by the University of Pune to which it is affiliated.

The study of CSBE to formulate a strategy for IndSearch's entry into Social Enterprises is under progress. For this purpose, CSBE has constituted a committee of two experts who have longstanding involvement with social enterprises, consisting of the following senior faculty members and researchers:

- Dr. Latha Ramchandran
- Prof. Rita Rangnekar

The core committee with the help of experts in this area is preparing its report covering the following areas:

- the issues involved in setting up a cell for Social Enterprises
- to formulate measures by which IndSearch is able to establish a cell with its faculty and experts from the field who can take forward the intent of IndSearch in making an entry into the area of Social Enterprise
- key SE sectors to be targeted for mentoring
- a detailed action plan

Activities of FORES, The Research Forum of Council of Small Business (India)

FORES Council of Small Business (India) launched the Forum of Research in Entrepreneurship and Small Business (FORES) in August, 2013.
